VERY VERY AFFLUENT

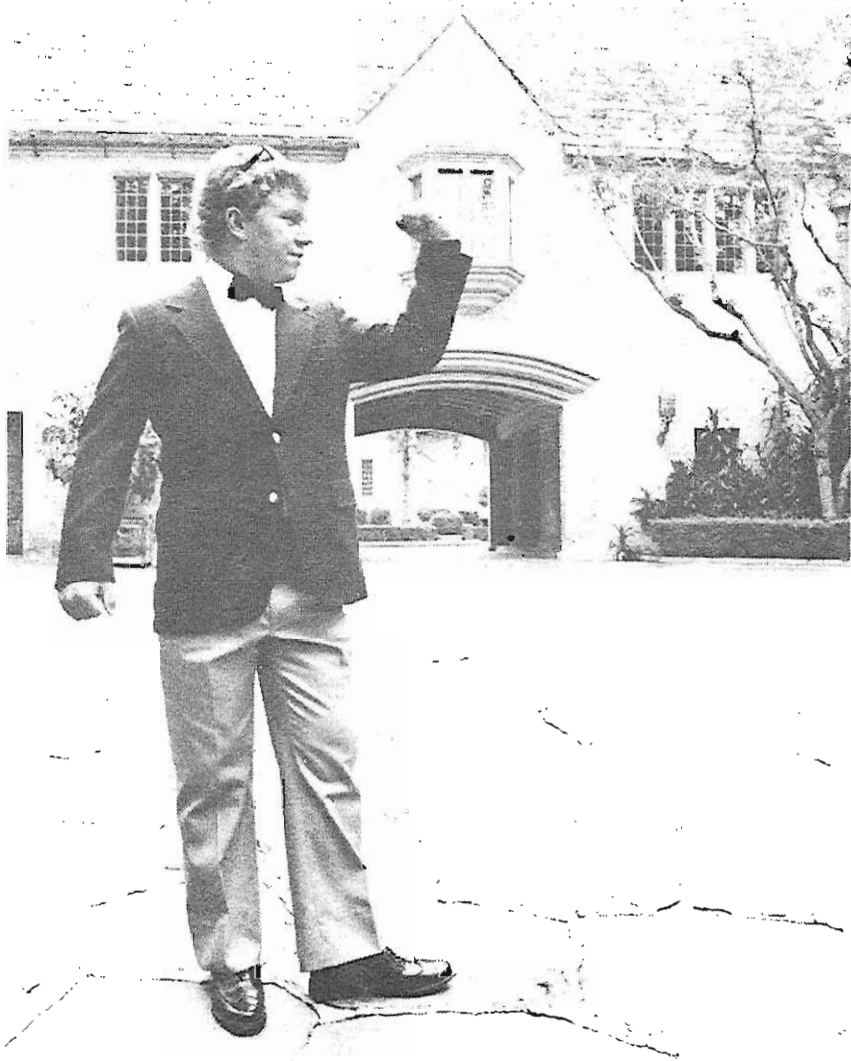

Expecting his 500 million Trust fund on his twenty-first birthday, Rob DuPont Jr. makes due with his two million dollar annual allowance.

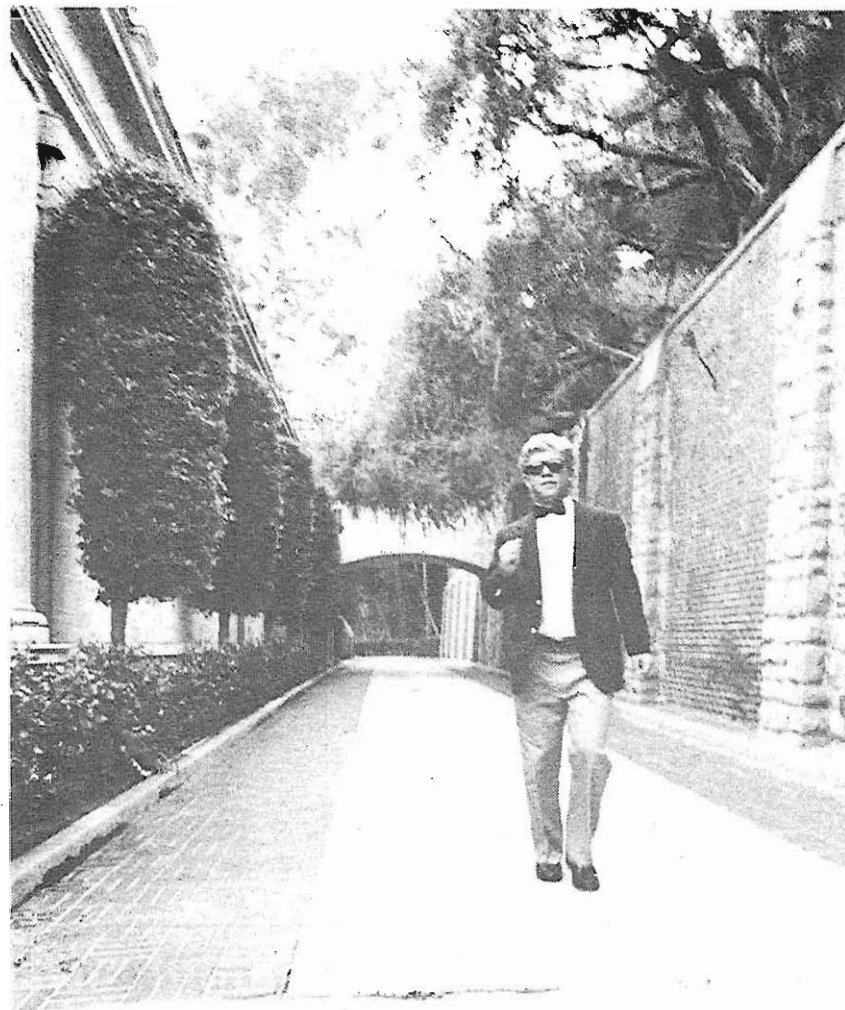

Rob DuPont Jr. interests include Classic Studies, especially having played in a full scale replica of ancient Rome in his early years.

As a child, Rob DuPont Jr. became lost in a wooded section of the estate. To prevent future mishaps, his father uprooted these trees and straightened them out in nice simple rows.

Rob DuPont Jr. often works out, sometimes rotating up to twenty moneybags a day.

One lap around the West Coast home easily provides Rob Dupont Jr. with the necessary workout to keep fit.

Rob DuPont Jr. takes advantage of one of the many fine service organizations at USC. "Trojan Serfs have yet to fail me," says Rob.

After long deliberation, Rob DuPont Jr. finally yielded to the rushing techniques of EEK. Rob was instrumental in the building of the new Epsilon Epsilon Kappa house, located just off the row.

Not limiting himself to fraternities, Rob DuPont Jr. has expressed interest in the purchase of top sorority houses, living up to his family motto, "If you can't join them, buy them."
