28TH STREET FEATURE

28th Street Feature has begun a new tradition of excellence in the field of swimsuit publication. I know. I was there. Perhaps it is only a matter of time before we overtake Sports Illustrated as the best swimsuit publication ever. Perhaps we already have. This issue truly reflects the talent necessary to set us out from the rest of the pack. Even despite the constant threat of an EEK hostile takeover, 28th Street Feature continues to bring to the Row new and imaginative blah blah blah to readers everywhere. And in publishing this blah blah blah, I feel comfortable in saying blah blah blah throughout the rest of this stupid column. One thing I can say with all seriousness is some earthquake advise, if you can, get to a doorframe. God, what else can I say? I know! Its time keep typing until I drop. I hate midterms. The weather certainly has been poor lately, hasn't it? I never seem to be sunny enough here even though throughout the rest of the nation misery and doom seem to dominate the weatherman's forecasts. Well, well, we're done!

28th Street Magazine presents...

SWIMSUIT ISSUE

IT'S HERE!!!

Yes, It's October and time for our famous
Feature Swimsuit Issue
We know you'll enjoy.

Our Core Feature Staff eagerly awaits to assist you.

With painstaking precision, Jeff and Pete accurately simulate the correct local of their exotic swimsuit exactly where a gorgeous model was only moments before.

Wouldn't this enticing swimsuit look fantastic on a fiery Redhead standing just inches from a thundering waterfall at the incredible South Pacific island of Tahiti.

Imagine a tall, beautiful Blonde wearing this exotic swimsuit as she leans up against a dark coconut tree on a deserted island with a glorious sunset in the off in the distance.

What a Babe!

It will hurt your pocketbook a lot.

This amazing swimsuit is very expensive. Save your money if you want to buy it.

The skill involved with the placement of bathing suits even rates above such professions as Neurosurgery and Corporate Law

One piece swimsuits provide the potential wearer with more protection against the sun and its harmful rays.

Looks great. Let's take it to the editor.

A great babe simulation by Jeff leaves both Pete and the reader in awe.

Last but not least, the gorgeous Christy Brinkley would have most certainly looked fabulous in this beautiful swimsuit.

THE NEW ROW EARTHQUAKE PATROL

Thanks to Jackie Saffer, each house on the row will have their very own Quake Evac Patrolman stationed outside.

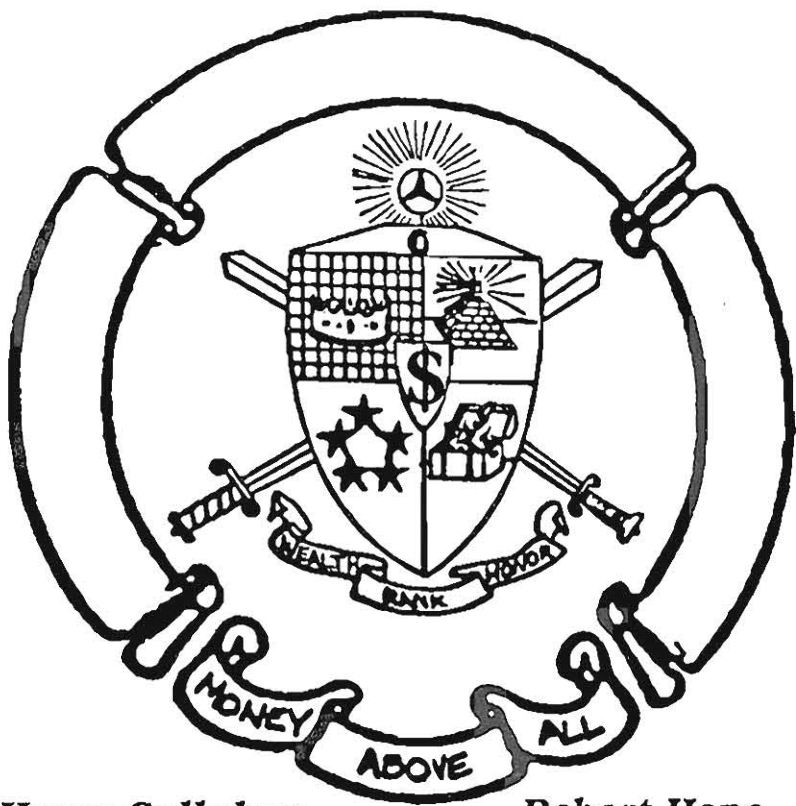

California Quake Evac Patrolmen are required to have degrees in Geology, Geography, and Classic Literature.

Its always nice to know where to run during the big one
